COMPLETION OF OLD PARTIAL INVESTIGATIONS

This survey reflected that at present there are at least 600 individuals on CIA rolls in either an overt or semicovert capacity who have not undergone a full background investigation. These individuals were granted Full Clearances following a national agency name check and a polygraph examination, and after ascertaining that they had records of at least ten years of honorable service elsewhere in the Government. These background investigations should be completed as soon as SSD's more pressing requirements are satisfied.
